ing at the Henry Grady hotel Friday night.

"The character of Judge Sibley," the resolution declared, "his splendid career at the bar before his elevation to the bench and his record of more than ten years on the federal bench demonstrate that he is unqualifiedly fit for this promotion."

John B. McCallum was elected president for the ensuing year; Welborn B. Cody, with Harold Hirsch and Marion Smith, was elected first vice president; Elbert P. Tuttle, of Sutherland & Tuttle, second vice president; J. C. Shelor, of the trust department of the First National bank, secretary, and W. J. Davis, Jr., treasurer.

The executive committee will be composed of Hughes Roberts, retiring president; Stephens Mitchell, William G. Grant and Madison Richardson. Other than the reports of the standing committees, the resolution indorsing judge Sibley and the election of officers constituted the business of the annual meeting.

The Sibley resolution reads:

object to onion, the sauce is agree able without it and for some tastes a dash of nutmeg is liked.

Calf's liver has become such a luxury that people with large families find it prohibitive. It may be extended, however, with a bread stuffing so that half a pound will serve three prour people. Have the ment aliced about a third of an inch thick, spread each piece with a savory dressing and roll un pently with a strip of bacon around it. Fasten into shape with a couple of tooth picks and brown lightly on both sides. Remove from pan or push to one side, and mix a tablespoon of flour with the bacon fat. Pour in slowly a cup of water, or stock, if available, add a tablespoon each of Worcester sauce and catsup with a little sait. Stir until thickneed, how with a little sait. Stir until thickneed, and let the liver rolls simmer in this for an hour, closely covered. Beef liver can be substituted at decided economy if a much longer time is allowed for the cooking. If the fiquid cooks away, more must be added, but with the lowest heat and correct urensil this won't happen. The waterless type of cooker is admirable, but any well-made fry pan, whether of iron or aluminum, will do the work if the cover fits properly. A tight-fitted lid saves more watching than all the expensive utensils. An asbestos mat beneath is helpful, and a low flame imperative. With this couppment, when the food within is barely bubbling, it may safely be left to its own devices, for it can't boil dry and won't scorch. Then the cook is free of "pot watching" a really necessary part of kitchen duty with a wood or coal range, and poorly fitted kettle covers.

For variety, we often cook rice for dinner instead of potatoes, especially when there is gravy to enrich and moisten it. Sometimes we have rice left over, which never annoys us, as

Negro Given 20 Years

For Second Burglary

Morals are good for those who need them and it likewise seems there is truth aplenty in the old adage commenting on thieves getting their just wages—at least it would have paid a negro in the jurisdiction of the Stone Mountain circuit, Judge John D. Hutcheson presiding, to have heeded both the moral of a previous sentence and the old adage.

Oscar Josie, alias Roy Smith, escaped from a sentence in Upson county on a burglary charge. The moral was plain, "Thou shalt not steal." But Oscar, or Roy, traveled into the Stone Mountain circuit and therein stole a ham, as well as other articles not his, from A. P. Ricket, on Flat Shoals road. Indicted again for burglary, his second offense, the court had no choice but to give him the maximum sentence under Section 1068, Volume 6, Georgia penal code. The sentence will run concurrently with the Upson county sentence.

Judge Hutcheson Friday pointed out the above section of the state code which makes it mandatory upon trial judges to give the maximum sentence when defendants are brought before them and convicted a second time. And now Oscar, or Roy, will not need to remember morals or adages for many, many years—20 to be exact.

"Glory be," said Williams and his words were echoed by the other two, but there was none of the ferver, outwardly at least, that had marked their words of "I'm ready; I'll be with Jesus," with which they had told newspapermen goodbye earlier in the night.

"It sounded good to me, but I was ready to meet my God," was Williams' comment later and Keller said quietly, "I feel all right," to which Grigsby added, "You know I feel good; I had trusted in God."

Why the reprieves were not announced earlier was not explained by the pardon commissioner, who arrived late last night, but it was believed that the recent statement by Edmonds taking the blame for slaying Harry S. Long, a Louisville nightwatchman, and exonerating Keller and Grigsby had saved their lives.

Williams was convicted in another Louisville robbery and slaying, that of H. R. Porter, a filling station manager, and recent developments had raised doubts in the governor's mind as to whether he had been properly identified.

money, was robbed of $1,020 at the time.

Ratcliffe, who had pleaded not guilty at his trial had sought to feign insanity for the last week, declining to answer questions, but tonight, after he and the others had heard the death sentences read, he suddenly began to talk to a group of newspapermen and prison officials. He said he was ready to die and hoped his case would be a lesson to others. Then, referring to his feigning insanity he said, "Fellows, don't blame me. If you were in this cell you would have tried anything to get free."

Asked whether he were guilty he said, "I am condemned to die and it does not matter whether I am guilty or innocent," and he went to the chair without making any further statement as to his guilt or innocence.

MIAMI, Fla., June 13.—(P)—Heads of leading financial institu-tions here today reported that "sym-pathetic runs" which occurred Wed-nesday and Thursday in connection with the closing of the Bank of Bay Biscayne, and three subsidiaries, had subsided.

Hugh H. Gordon, Jr., president of the City National bank, said that his bank had seen but few withdraw-als yesterday and today, and a large number of deposits. Other officials expressed the same thought.

Cash totaling $8,000,000 was brought here from federal reserve depositories to assist local bankers in any crisis that might arise as a result of the closing of the Bank of Bay Bicayne, oldest banking institution in south Florida.

LOCAL TUBERCULOSIS SOCIETY IN NEW HOME

Open House Held To Celebrate Purchase of Permanent Headquarters.

Celebrating the consummation of its purchase of a permanent home at 286 Forrest avenue, the Tuberculosis association Friday afternoon held open house, with scores of persons interested in the work of the organization visiting the property, which is centrally located and ideally adaptable for the work of preventing spread in Atlanta of the white plague.

The association, which has occupied the Forrest avenue property for one year, recently was enabled through public subscriptions to purchase outright the house and adjoining land, which formerly was owned by Mrs. Corydon Kenan, who cooperated with the efforts of officials of the association to own its own headquarters by making a special price for the property.

raking a special piece for the property.

The largest single donation was that of David Woodward, who contributed $2,500 toward the total of $6,000 required, while 106 other persons subscribed for the remainder. The purchase was closed during the latter part of May.

The Tuberculosis Association has long been active in its efforts to curb the progress of the disease in this section. Among other facilities it maintains a clinic where free examination may be had and a staff of nurses visit and treat patients in all parts of the city.

Milk Fund Revue, Now in Rehearsal, Expensive Show

When Atlanta sets the "Toytown Revne," benefit production with more than a hundred Atlanta children in the cast, at Loew's Capitol theater during the week of June 23, they are not only going to see one of the snappiest and cleverest kiddle revenues ever staged anywhere, but they will also see a production that has cost Loew's, Inc., at least twice as much to get together as the most expensive professional act on the vaudeville circuit.

Stage settings for the lavish show arrive in Atlanta Monday morning, a solid carload of them. They will be "set" at the theater in ample time for the final dress rehearsals at the end of next week, when Chester Hale, one of New York's most famous revue producers, will come at his own expense, just to see that everything is perfect. Miss Ruth Alpert, Mr. Hale's first assistant, is here training and rehearsing the children and is already bragging about the youngsters and the wonderful show "her boss" will witness when he gets here.

The show is being given as an added attraction to the Capitol program for the week, as a benefit for the milk fund, sponsored by the Atlanta Masonic Club, to provide a year's supply, without stint, of health-giving milk for the child patients at the Scottish Rite hospital. Sixteen young ladies, members of the Pi Pi Club, will be in the lobbies of the theater during the week, to collect for the milk fund in their "milk pails." And Atlanta is sure to give, generously, not only because of the beauty of the cause, but because they will have seen, on the Capitol stage, one of the most entertaining shows ever offered in this city.

Names of witnesses to be heard in Atlanta will be made known prior to the hearings. They will include a large variety of persons engaged in the cottonseed business including mill operators, ginners, seed buyers, seed sellers and shippers, chemists and others.

In this inquiry the commission seeks information as to whether or not certain large cottonseed oil mill operators have acquired control of cotton zins in order to destroy the competitive market for cottonseed, and to depress prices paid the farmer. The inquiry is the result of two senate resolutions calling for such an investigation.

Hearings have been in progress in Washington since June 2. William W. Sheppard, of the commission's trial examiners staff, who has presided in Washington, will continue to do so in the south while Attorney Walter B. Wooden will continue to conduct the examination, assisted by Attorney George F. Soter, Jr.

Gulf Will Open New Station Today

Gulf Refining Company announces the opening today of another service station in the Atlanta territory, lo-cated in Lakewood Heights at the corner of Jonesbore road and Whatley street.

The new service station was located at this point in the belief that it was the most convenient available for Lakewood Heights and South Atlanta motorists, and it is designed to serve a wide territory.

Modern in every respect, the station is patterned along lines generally followed in the construction of gulf stations and will render all classes of service found in the up-to-date filling stations.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., June 13.—(P)
An old double-barreled derringer, a real antique so far as firearms are concerned, has been found on St. Simons island by J. A. Ross, Sr., a local gunsmith, and will be turned over to a collector of firearms.

The derringer is oddly shaped and bears the marks of exposure. Mr. Ross found it while digging for relics on the site of the Battle of Bloody Marsh, on the island.

The gun is a single trigger weapon, the trigger heing so arranged as to alternately fire each of the barrels. This same principle has been adopted for modern double-barrel, single trigger guns, Mr. Ross said, but a long interval exists between the two models. The gun is a muzzle-loader but is rifled, a fact which local gun fanciers are trying to explain.

VALDOSTA YOUTHS FACE MURDER TRIAL JUNE 24

VALDOSTA, Ga., June 13.—Solicitor-General G. C. Spurlin and Special Assistant Solicitor J. M. Johnson are busy preparing the prosecution case against Claud Adams, Jelks Crosby and Tobe Folsom, young white men, who will be brought to trial in Lowndes superior court on June 24. The three are under indictments for murder in connection with the death of Stanford Cothron, a youth of the Ousley district, in April of this year.

death of Stanford Cothron, a youth of the Ousley district, in April of this year.

Following the death of the young man the three were held by the coroner's jury for the murder and later they were liberated under bond on a charge of manslaughter. When the grand jury met in May all three were indicted for perjury in connection with the case and were held in jail. Before the grand jury recessed indictments charging murder were found against them and the court recessed until June 24 when the trial is scheduled to begin.

It is understood that the murder trial will be held first, after which the prosecution will likely proceed with the perjury charge.

Judge L. Weston, of Quitman, and H. B. Edwards, of this city, represent the defense. The latter attorney is at present reported to be seriously ill, which has somewhat retarded the preparation of the defense case, and there is some apprehension that the continued illness of Colonel Edwards may result in a move to postpone the trial.

Owing to the fact that in recent years four persons have been killed in the Ousley section there is an unisual amount of interest being shown in the present prosecution. In none of the other cases has there ever been a prosecution owing to a lack of evidence.

NO DECISION REACHED

BRUNSWICK, June 13.—(P)—
Members of the Georgia fish and game commission returned here Friday from the hearing at Savannah on the prawn fishing situation without the prawn fishing situation without making a decision.

They said they wanted more time to

They said they wanted more time to study suggestions and that their decision probably would be announced at a meeting here June 25.

Sport fishermen have asked the commission to declare a closed season on prawn, contending game fish are killed in the trawl nets of the commercial fishermen. The game fishermen believe a closed season will give game fish an opportunity to replenish inland channels.

Commercial fishermen told the com-day by D. E. McLeod, district superintendent.

While Waycross is the main division point at which cars are re-iced and re-billed to destinations, the heaviest loading points will be at McAlpin, O'Brien, Branford, Live Oak, Quitman, Boston, Thomasville, Ochlocknee, Meigs Valdosta and Rint.

The shipments have already commenced, more than 29 cars having been handled. The number of cars for the season is expected to go above 7,000.

Mr. McLeod further reports that power conditions and roadbed conditions are the best in the histoky of the district. The laying of 38 miles of 100-pound rails between Valdosta and Thomasville has just been controlled. Only 120 miles of main road-pleted. Only 120 miles of main road-pleted. Only 120 miles of main road-pleted. This medal is awayeded appually to pleted. Only 120 miles of main roadbed now remain that does not have the 100-pound rails and these will be so equipped ere long.

Mr. McLeod is continuing to receive made during May by his district in the maintenance of passenger schedules. This was a perfect record of 100 per cent maintenance despite the fact that 744 passenger trains were handled during the month. Such a record means that the district in receiving these trains and passing them on maintained or bettered the schedule for each one.

SUNDAY MOVIES PROVE MASSachusetts. MRS. TRAVIS INDORSED

THOMASVILLE, Ga., June 13.—The matter of opening moving picture shows to the public on Sundays is a subject of increasing interest in this southwest Georgia-north Florida region. A movie theater in Albany was kept open on the Sabbath day for aeveral consecutive weeks last winter, finally being closed by legal action. The case there is now in the Georgia courts, awaiting decision. Now an agitation for and against Sunday movies is interesting the people of the 35-mile distant town of Tallahassee, capital city of Florida. The moving picture theater there has been kept open on Sundays for some weeks, but there were objections and the matter has now been put up to the city commission government. Demand was made there that the theater be kept closed on the Sabbath and it was set forth that Tallahassee has a city ordinance forbidding it to open on that day of the week.

The matter, the commission decided, is to have a public hearing, both sides to the contention to be represented by attorneys, and it may be decided to take a referendum vote of the people to determine whether or not the ordinance shall be repealed or amended.

LUMBERMEN CONTEST

MACON, Gh., June 13.—(R)—
Judge H. A. Mathews, of the Macon circuit, Friday afternoon took under advisement an action in which there is an attack on the constitutionality of an act assessing an occupation tax on lumber dealers and dealers in lumber products.

of an act assessing an occupation tax on lumber dealers and dealers in lumber products.

He said he would hand down an opinion within the next two weeks. The action was brought by nearly 25 lumber dealers in Macon and Bibb county, each of whom claims to have been assessed a $100 occupation tax. They charge that the act is indefinite and cannot be enforced. No distinction is made, they contend, between "lumber dealers and dealers in lumber products." They charge, too, that the act is discriminatory in that it assesses the tax on a scale according to the population of the city of which the dealer or manufacturer is "in or near."

Evidence in the case was introduced some weks ago but arguments of counsel were deferred until today.

Representing the lumber dealers are the local firms of Jones, Jones, Johnston & Yussell: Martin, Martin & Snow; Harris, Harris & Popper and Nottingham & Nottingham. The state is represented by the firm of Brock, Sparks & Rusell, here; E. B. Weatherly, of Macon, and W. H. Key, of Monticello.

So it happens that "Journey's End," already adopted in play and talkie over in America, has at last come into our possession. The story is so true to life, so simple and her children. However horrible war may have been, how foul and disgusting its memory may linger in our minds even after these many years, still one feels a wave of gratitude and happiness for having seen those fine and gallant fellows from Kent and Sussem who fought but did not hate and who stepped off so quietly into End" has brought them to life once more. We must thank him for the spectacle.

A Russian troupe is giving this month in Paris a series of perform ances of modern Moscovite plays and old French operettes, all in the purest cubistic style. Besides the plays, which are highly interesting, the Parisians are rubbing their eyes in astonishment at the introduction of a novelty in the advertising of the show. It would perhaps amuse Americans even more. The novelty consists in this: There is no publicity for any of the individual players, for there are no stars in the cast. Better even, it is said that the players within the limits generally support the product of the Atlanta Constitution and The North American Newspaper Alliance).

The theater. Theater managers are roum on the subject, however. Maybe they envy their Russian conferees the un-rufiled tranquility which must result from the absence of stars and leading ladies and accompanying jealousies and little tyrannies and caprices. Maybe they would like to adopt the Russian system themselves. But they keep quiet. They know full well what the answer would be. Every actor and actress in Paris would rise up indig-nantly and remind the managers that the greatest things on the stage have been produced out of an individual thirst for glory. And when all those

When the summer vacation is over, you will be a freshman in college. You had the privilege of selecting the school you preferred—after I eliminated all but four—and you chose one near home "because the girls there have such kind faces."

That was a good enough reason, other things being equal, and I commend your taste. The "kind look" that impressed you isn't gift of nature, but a product of character and preeding.

Most of the girls you saw came from old-fashioned homes, where they were taught to be unselfish and useful, and most of them expect to teach school or earn their living in some other way when they graduate. They don't smoke or drink or indulge in

Be mighty careful in choosing the group that is to make you over. How shall you know which one to avoid? Well, people never hide their goodness but only their badness.

LOUIS CRAWFORD REJECTION ASKED

WASHINGTON, June 18.—(Special.)—The senate judiciary committee was asked to reject the nomination of Louis H. Crawford as United State marshal for the northern district of Georgia in charges filed with the committee today by Tom Wallace, of Atlanta, a clerk in Crawford's office.

About a month ago, after the local movie house had run off Sunday shows, the Trenton Ministerial Association adopted resolutions calling upon La Barre to enforce the Sunday laws. He responded by assigning of ficer to observe the violations.

The list of alleged violators as announced today showed that the Rev. Don Clyde Kite, pastor of the Central Baptist church, stood accused of spending 96 cents for gasoline at a filling station, and the Rev. I. W. L. Moundtree, negro pastor, was charged with purchasing a cigar.

One policeman reported that while he was on duty in a store checking violations a young woman entered to make a small purchase. She pleaded with him not to take her name, he said, because she had signed one of the petitions advocating blue law enforcement.

City officials fell into the net. Andrew Duch, police court clerk, was said to have bought a dinner in a hotel and the sleuths found George W. Page, commissioner of parks, playing golf.

Storekeepers were the most frequent violators, 500 of them being listed.

diana, has a population of 4,670,996, federal census enumerators announced today.

This is a gain of 1,199,198 over 1920 figures or 34.5 per cent. Official preliminary figures for Cook county were 3,937,058 including the city of Chicago with 3,373,753. The percentage gain for the city was 24.8.

Estimates based on a preliminary study of census figures indicated the city's unemployed accounted for but 4 per cent or 134,940, which was considerably fewer than predicted. A movement was started by Ralph L. Goodman, of the census advisory committee, to obtain an immediate and detailed survey of Chicago's working conditions based on the returns.

"Such a survey would make it possible for Chicago to get its unemployment information immediately instead of waiting a year for the census bureau at Washington to publish its computations," he said. He planned to obtain permission to use the 1930 census books to study the length of the period of unemployment for each individual, the causes of unemployment and the industries affected.

Official figures for 100 of the 102 counties in the state and official estimates for the other two, placed Illinois' population at 7,636,949, a gain of 1,151,669.

As the blaze was brought under control Battalion Chief Peter R. Davis and three firemen who were climbing a ladder seeking to extinguish scattered blazes, fell more than two stories to the sidewalk as the ladder broke. They were taken immediately to hospital where a first examination did not reveal grave injuries. Several other firemen auffered minor injuries or were overcome by the smoke.

The block on New York avenue in which the fire occurred was about 100 vards from the treasury and directly across the street from the Presbyterian church which Abraham Lincoln attended while president. The church was filled with people watching the blaze until firemen and police that the mount of the control of the fabled "seven cities of Chola."

PHOENIX, Ariz, June 13.—(F)—W. J. Hanna, federal land inspector, announced Thursday he had discovered an ancient city in southwestern Arizona, believed by the Indians to be one of the fabled "seven cities of Chola." Hanna stumbled upon the ruins while roaming through a desert near the Mohawk mountains 50 miles south of Palomas.

The ruins, nearly leveled, are covered by shifting sand dunes over an area six miles square, he said. Traces of masonry and hard beaten thoroughfares appear. Grinding stones and peatles and broken pieces of pottery are scattered about. A pre-historic water course is evident and the remains of an elaborate irrigation system criss-cross it.

Legend says the "seven cities of Chola." Hanna stimbled upon the ruins while roaming the peatle and broken pieces of pottery are scattered about. A pre-historic water course is evident and the remains of an elaborate irrigation system criss-cross it.

Beebe Reaches 1,426-FootDepth In Ocean Work

HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 13 .-(P)-William Beebe, undersea explor-

(A)—William Beebe, undersea explorer, and Otis Barton, of the New York museum, have descended 1,426 feet to the bed of the ocean off Bermuda in a steel sphere.

The sphere is fitted with heavy glass windows through which they observed fish swimming about and the fauna of the ocean floor. It is lowered by a steel cable, which carries a telephone line. The sphere carries an oxygen supply and apparatus for absorbing exhalted air.

The divers reported they could see objects clearly in the violat light and experienced no discomfort. The descent was made yesterday.

A few days ago Beebe went down 800 feet in the sphere.

out beating it. . . . Golden, light mayonnaise that makes any salad more appetizing - more nutritious too! It all came about because a woman down South, famous for her salads, was persuaded to make mayonnaise for her friends. It's not like bought mayonnaise - not in the least.

It is fluffy, creamy—never soupy. It is not cooked. Yet it keeps fresh and delicious. The secret is in using the freshest of eggs beaten with pure salad oil non juice and seasoning.

One woman, noted for her delicious salads, ex-claimed, "Honestly, this mayonnaise is better than my best! I never expect to make it at home again."

ATLANTANS OFF FOR SEDGEFIELD AMATEUR MEET

Twelve Local Stars Will Be on Hand When Tournev Starts.

By Roy White.

Nine preminent Atlanta golfers are scheduled to leave today for Greensboro, N. C., where they will participate next week in the southern amateur championship tournament. Seven leave this morning and two this afternoon.

Berrien Moore, Jr., and Scott Hud-Berrien Moore, Jr., and Scott Hudson, Jr., will carry the colors of East Lake Country Club; Julius Hughes, present city champion; Veavy Rainwater, Jay Glenn and Bobby Chambers will represent Druid Hills Golf Club, and Hugh Nunnally will be carrying on for the Capital City golfers. Two others, Jim Floyd and Hugh Carter are scheduled to leave this afternoon from Druid Hills and it is expected that Elliott Hoas, from Ingleside Country Club; J. J. Jones, Jr., Johnny Green and one or two others from Ansley Park; L. R. Hunter, Gene Cook, Pete Barnes and probably one or two others from West End will leave Sunday to get in several rounds of practice before the qualifying rounds will be played Tuesday.

Brooks Mell, of Capital City, left

eral rounds of practice before the qualifying rounds will be played Tuesday.

Brooks Mell, of Capital City, left Atlanta Friday afternoon for North Carolina and he is expected to be in Greensboro early Monday morning in time for a round of practice over the Seedgefield course, scene of the meet, along with numerous other Atlantans.

Twelve Atlantans have definitely entered the annual tournament and will be on their way to North Carolina by tonight and it is expected that a least a dozen more will leave Sunday night, giving the Gate City more entries for the event than ever before.

Ingleside Golfers Qualify Today.

Ingleside Country Club golfers will qualify this afternoon in 18-hole matches for the annual club championship tournament. The tourna-ment will be played next week, with the championship, a 36-hole match scheduled to be played Sunday, scheduled to be played Sunday, June 22.

Trophics will be given to the medalist and winner and runner-ups in all flights. The winner will have his name engraved on the large bronze plaque now hanging in the clubhouse along with other winners.

Jimmy Livingstone, club professional, will be in charge of the tournament and together with the tournament committee will make the pairings tonight after all soores have been turned in.

Second Round Set at Ansley.

Anslev Park golfers will complete today the remainder of unplayed matches in the second round of the annual Nat Kaiser Memorial trophy tournament. Other Ansley Park players will be practicing for the southern amateur tournament to be played next week in Greensboro, N. C.

Forrest Hills Meet Starts.

Forrest Hills golfers will start play today in the first round of an annual spring club tournament. Every member of the club was placed in a flight according to previous scores and no qualifying rounds were necessary to enter the tournament. One week will be given over to each round of play and Lanier Reed, club professional, will be in charge of the tournament.

stone, together with the tournament committee, will make the pairings to-night after all scores have been turned in.

It is a new tournament on the annual summer program. The trophy will be put up for competition for the first time. Suitable prizes will be given to winners and runners-up in each of the flights.

One-Day Meets Are Scheduled.

Druid Hills and East Lake golfers will spend the day in one-day tournaments. Harry Stephens at Druid Hills has not yet decided on what kind of tournament he will promote but players are assured of some reward for their efforts.

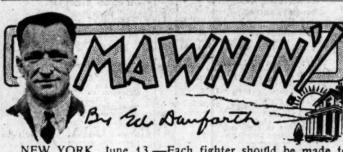

Frank Ball will hold another of the one-day ball sweepstakes tournaments for East Lake golfers.

NEW YORK, June 13.-Each fighter should be made to wear a barrel in the next championship bout. That seems to be the only way to prevent the stock ending and the subsequent argument, "Did he foul or was he pushed?"

The only deviation from the conventional climax to the Schmeling-Sharkey act was that everybody agreed it was a foul. William Muldoon alone of all the spectators said the blow was fair. And if George Bernard Shaw had been there he would have said so, too. George said Carpentier really whipped Dempsey.

The final confirmation of the fact that the lick was in foul territory was given by the movies. This makes Mr. Muldoon look just a little bad on the play. But he can get even by refusing to have Schmeling's name engraved on the Tunney-Mul-

In fact, there is no end of talk now that when the New York commission meets next Tuesday they will take it all back and decide that Schmeling did not show enough to warrant his name being placed there.

Before the fight the commission promised flatly to give the title to the winner. Therefore, if they took it back they would be running strictly to form.

WONDER WHAT PHIL THINKS ABOUT?

Wonder what Phil Scott really thinks of it all, aside from what he said in the papers? Phil was fouled twice by Sharkey in Miami and got nothing but a nation-wide raspberry. Phil should dye his hair black and otherwise make up to look like Jack Dempsey.

The rumor drifted out of Sharkey's dressing room after the fight that Jack had torn up his trunks and vowed to fight no more. That was about as true as the persistent report on Broadway about dawn that Max had died from the effects of the blow. It was true, however, that Sharkey lost his temper and berated Johnny Buckley roundly for failure to out-talk Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, in arguing the case before the jury in the fourth round.

"Pa" Stribling voiced sympathy for Sharkey in the matter.

"Talk about hard luck," he said, "look at Sharkey. He had a chance to fight Tunney for the title by beating Dempsey, and was knocked out by some mighty low blows just as he seemed

"Then he had another chance to fight Tunney by beating Risko, tried to take it easy and lost the decision. Now he gets a direct shot at the title, gets off in front by himself, and tosses it away with an accidentally low

"Nobody can claim any more hard luck than that."

FOULS THEN AND NOW.

Yet public attitude on fouls has changed in recent years due, In the championship flight. Handicars will not apply. Other flights will contain only eight players. probably, because folks have seen so many they have become "a brutal foul." Yet here a boxer, clear-headed and composed in the fourth round of a fight he was winning easily, landed a blow low and he gets tons of sympathy.

The lick was not intentional. There was no reason for Sharkey to try for an easy knockout that way. He had maneuvered Schmeling into a position in which the referee and one judge could not see the blow and his own body partially screened it from the movie camera tower.

It was a great chance for a foul, you might say, to get by unseen. But Sharkey is not that smart a fighter. He could not think all that up by himself.

SHARKEY'S POOR TASTE.

The tip-off on Sharkey's depth of thought was given when he came into the ring wearing an American flag draped over his shoulders. It was a gesture in extremely poor taste. It offended even the hardened sensibilities of the New York mob. They fairly bellowed their rage.

BOTH ELIMINATED.

Recasting the multitudinous impressions of a sour so-called championship contest, your correspondent feels that both men definitely were eliminated from the title division. Schmeling Capital City golfers will take advantage of the last opportunity this afternoon to qualify for the Country club trophy tournament which will be played next week. Three days have been given to qualifying and three days will be given for each round of play.

Howard Beckett and Willie Livingstone, together with the tournament of the country were eliminated from the title division. Schmeling had courage. He took every blow in the Sharkey repertoire, except that favorite left-handed bowling stroke and came in for the fourth apparently unhurt. But Schmeling did not show a great punch in either hand, and is no bargain in generalship. Sharkey was the same old Sharkey, with lots of steam but no control. Any man who has been mixed up in seven or eight fights in which fouls figured one way or but no control. Any man who has been mixed up in seven or eight fights in which fouls figured one way or another must be totally innocent of muscular co-ordination. Certainly Sharkey does not belong at the top and he never will improve.

Save for the technicality that Schmeling is champion by virtue of the proclamation before the bout of the New York commission—and this may be revoked next Tuesday—the heavyweight division looks devoid of a champion. There is a great opportunity still there for some hustling young man who can keep his blows high.

Pa" Stribling Insists W. L. Is Logical Contender for Title.

By Ed Danforth.

Sports Editor Constitution.

NEW YORK. June 13.—While metropolitan fistic figures vainly tried to strike a balance after the staggering, disappointing outcome of the synthetic championship bout between Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling at the Yankee stadium last night. Pa Stribling was up early and engaged in literary composition.

The result of his efforts was a modest, forceful note to the New York state athletic commission, asking that Young Stribling be given an early shot at the champion or any man to be named by the commission as the one to put him in line for a title fight. It was a timely letter. Pa claimed nothing for his son. He made no slighting references to the fact that Max Schmeling had won the title 'default, if indeed the commission actually awards him the bauble. Instead he insisted that W. L. was the outstanding boxer in the division who has only a narrow decision against him in favor of Jack Sharkey. W. L. deserves a chance and is willing to fight "for the challenger's end of a purse or f. r. nothing and no one hundredths dollars," to quote Pa's letter.

THE LETTER.

The communication addressed to Chairman James A. Farley, of the New York commission, follows:

"W. L. (Young) Stribling takes this opportunity to respectfully ask for resognition by your commission as the logical challenger for the world's heavyweight boxing championship. He stands ready to post any required forfeit and fight any man you may name.

"Young Stribling lost a very close decision in the tenth round to Jack Sharkey in his outstanding heavy-weight fight and has beaten everybody else in the division whom he has fought. Since the milk fund fight ended as it did Young Stribling stands out over the field.

as it did Young Stribling stands out over the field.

"But he is anxious to meet Schmeling or Sharkey or both, in order named, or in reverse order, winner take all or on any terms imposed by your commission. Furthermore, he will throw in Von Porat and Phil Scott, his next two fights, for good measure.

"It would be unjust to deny him the chance to try for the champion-ship. He will beat Von Porat and Scott and then meet any man named by the commission for the challenger's end or for nothing and no one hun-dredths dollars.

we urge an early answer sawn your views on our case.

"Respectfully yours.
"W. L. STRIBLING, SR."

It is the opinion of the writer that Young Stribling is the real standout in the heavyweight class now. Neither Sharkey nor Schmeling added to their prestige last night. Sharkey was certainly no better against Schmeling than he was against Stribling in Miami Beach in 1929. Sharkey was simply up against a man whom Stribling could lick any day in the week, and looked like a master boxer in comparison. The German has a style that Stribling would relish.

Yet the same Sharkey fumbled and stumbled along through ten rounds in Miami to have a questionable decision handed him y dear old Lou Magnolia. To say that because of that one filmsy decision against him, Stribling is not in line for a shot at important fighters in this section is a joke.

Still there is no telling what the New York commission will do. The Commissioners considered Phil Scott a logical contender and gave Schmeling a chance to grab the million dolar title on the strength of two winning starts on American soil.

It is probable the commission will do nothing at all about it now. They have not yet decided whether to engrave the name of Schmeling on the Minloon trophy. Besides, New York commission ediaspointed twice by Stribling, are not likely to lend a hand at bringing Young Stribling will have a hard time getting somebody to go to bat for him before the board. Young Stribling will samply have to plead his own case with his gloves. If he finishes Yon Forat and Scott in convincing fashion even a New York commission could not refuse to listen to his requests.

The Striblings left tonight for Chicago to resume training for the fight with Yon Porat. They sail June 18 with Yon Porat. They sail June 28 for England to prepare for the bout with Phil Scott late in July. If the Georgia boxer takes Yon Porat and Georgia boxer takes Yon Porat to ride and comes back across the water with Scott's scalp he will have an oration to deliver that must command attention.

A reasonable cut on the gate was included.

TENNIS PLAYERS

Atlanta's army of tennis players are putting in plenty of practices this week in preparation for the annual city tournament which will be held next week on the East Lake Country Club course. It will be the first time in many years that the tournament will be held at East Lake. Trophies will be given to winners and runner-ups in singles, doubles and the mixed doubles. A three-year tro-phy also will be awarded to the win-ner of the singles event.

It was announced Friday by officials of the tournament that a mixed doubles event will be included on the program. It will be the first time in several years that a mixed double event has been attempted. Trophies will be given to both winners and runners.

IN FIFTH INNING BRINGS VICTORY

Andy Messenger Goes Route as Atlantans Take Series Lead.

By Ralph McGill.

In a game wherein the lead changed with breath-taking rapidity, the Atlanta Crackers finally forged ahead Friday afternoon at Spiller field and defeated the Travelers, 7 and 6.

Two smashing home runs featured the Cracker attack. One of them was by Luke Appling, the young and leaping corpuscle from Oglethorpe. The other was by Jimmy Johnston, who is as young as any of them.

Luke Appling, in hitting his first home run, slapped one that was never more than 15 feet above the field. It went into the midst of the republicans in the left-field stands, much to their delight. And it took just one bounce to get there.

JIMMY'S HOMER.

JIMMY'S HOMER.

Jimmy Johnston's home run was even more sensational. He hit one inside the park and it was the winning run. The ball went rolling out in center field while Jimmy Johnston went racing around the sacks as if he were this young fellow Frank Wykoff we've been reading about in the papers. Who is he? Why the boy who set a new record for the 100 yard dash.

The situation is growing quite painful for those who have been trying to find some mistakes John Dobha has made. They had him frying because he released Ed Brown, The Big End Man. They had him over the verbal barbecue pit because he kept Jimmy Johnston around.

HOYLAKE, England, June 13.—
(AP)—American contenders, who hope to carry home the British open golf title, found the weather to their liking today on the championship courses of Royal Liverpool and Wallasey and mearly everybody did two practice rounds to get in shape for the opening of the show next week.

Although lacking in rain both courses, where the qualifying rounds will be played Monday and Tuesday, were in splendid trim today with the long hitters getting a great roll for their drives. Record cards were considered likely if the dryness continues.

Bobby Jones, George von Elm and Horton Smith played 36 holes, Cyril Tolley joining Smith as his partner in the afternoon. A bad oreak kept down the Cracker total in their half of the fifth. With one gone Si Rosenthal drew a base on balls. Grimes doubled to stretch it and was caught at third.

Smith and Tolley had numerous birdies and compiled a best ball of 62. Jones and von Elm were not so successful, Bobby being off the line with some of his drives.

Don Moe had a score of 73 for his morning round. The Oregon boy was pleased in spite of trouble encountered at some holes. Moe will play Wallasey tomorrow while the other contestants from the United States plan to hammer balls around both courses.

That gave the Crackers their one without more than a modicum of trouble.

Andy Messenger was a bit wild. He walked the first batter in the seventh and eighth innings. Despite to turn on a play in the seventh.

Nicolai walked. Ivy Griffin singled to center and Jack Steele, coaching at third, motioned Nicolai on. Langford threw him out. This followed a play in the sixth when Steele's effort to work a double steal or a squeeze play were frustrated by Jack Continued on Third Sport Page.

Barron Is Suspended; Crackers Sign Gregory

Red Barron, injured Cracker outfielder, was placed on the suspended list Friday because of the injuries received in the Cracker game last Sunday at Chattaneoga. He will be out 18 days and then take his place in the outfield.

The Crackers announced the signing of Paul Gregory, Mississippi A. and M. pitcher, who reported Friday. Gregory worked out with the club before the game and made a fine impression. He showed a fast hall and a lot of power.

"I think he is a fine prospect," said Johnny Dobbs. "We will give him a trial in a game some time next week. If he comes through for us we will be greatly benefitted."

The Crackers have been interested in a couple of Mobile players but have made no headway in purchasing them.

The Crackers play Little Rock a double-header today, the first game beginning at #30 eclock.

Dresident of the Boston Red Sox, summed up his impression of the indugural game of night baseball in the American association played at Indianapolis June 10.

He was one of a score of notables who gathered in Washington park to witness the most ambitious attempt ever made to solve the attendance problem besetting the clubs of the smaller cities.

Kennesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of the national pastime: Thomas J. Hickey, president of the association; William C. Veck, president of the Chicago Cubs, and George Muchlbach, president of the Kansas City Blues, expressed themselves as deeply interested in the experiment which takes the diamond sport out of competition with golf and other "daylight games and makes it available to the man who spends a full day at work.

Milton Stock had come from New York in a trade for Lobert, to play third base for us. Bert Neihoff had succeeded Otto Knabe at second base, Knabe having jumped to the Federal league, and Fred Luderus was at first. Sherwood Magee had gone to Boston for George Whitted, and Cachus Cravath was in right field, having come the year before from Minnerpolis.

I don't know whether the outfielders can see as well as they should, but there is nothing to indicate that they cannot."

Mr. Hickey declared that he had viewed the game from the outfield, and that it was amply bright in that part of the playing ground. "This is the second game I have seen," he declared. "I saw one game at Des Moines, and I am absolutely won over to the lights. It is a wonderful thing, because so many more people can because so many more people can come to the games at night, espe-cially in the smaller cities. There is no need for it in cities like New York and Chicago, because their floating population guarantees them a good daily attendance."

It was the first nocturnal performance that Commissioner Landis had attended, and he was enthusiastic in his comment. "There has not been anything yet indicating that the artificial illumination problem has not been solved," the exar of the pastime said. "The high fly, the line drive as well as the close, quick infield play all seem to be effectually served. I believe they have solved the problem."

The experience was "a very surprising pleasure" to the president of the National league champions. "I am enjoying the game, and I think the players are, too," Mr. Veeck told interviewers. "I have already discovered that I can follow the ball better at night than in the daytime. This, however, is probably the most perfect night lighting job that is doing business. I like it." Later Mr. Veeck dedlared that he had not seen a ground hall or a fly ball that was not played dust as well as if it had been in broad daylight.

Quinn reported. The Boston magnate declared "At no park or anywhere else ean you get so much for your money. It is good for the fellow who can't lay off in the afternoon to see ball games at night. They can come at night and bring the family. It looks like the salvation of baseball in the minor leagues."

Gordon and Pattillo Teams Meet in Fulton League Features.

Saturday's series in the leagues of the Y-Church A. A. again promise feature games as most of the leaders meet their nearest rivals. Bethany Methodist probably head the list as they will again be forced to win to complete ownership of the topmost position of the Sewanee league. The Calvary Methodist team which has won its last four games to gain a tie for the lead meets the cellarites with victory almost certain. Where two games are scheduled the first will start at 2 p. m. with all others beginning one hour later.

GBANITE LEAGUE.

No decisive games are scheduled in the Granite league for this weekend, but all of them should prove interesting. All leaders play teams considerably lower in standing. Whittier Mills and Exposition Mills are slated to play the feature game of the City league at Chattahoochee, while Hapeville takes a day off due to the dropping of Southern Bell.

Pullman and Southern Ruralist play two games today in order to make up one that was rained out some weeks ago. These should be good games.

The Monroe-Milstead game of the Empire State league will probably not be played due to dissatisfaction in the ranks of the Monroe team, but the games at Eatonton and Covington should draw large crowds.

The number of arguments that follow every champonship fight will scenes of New York Bout probably be doubled in the wake of the Sharkey-Schmeling duel. This Convinced German Was time there is no argument left as to whether or not the punch was low. But a lot of burning oratory is being unleashed as to whether Schmeling could have survived 15 rounds, whether he could have come on later to beat Sharkey and whether a world championship, hanging in the balance, should be awarded on a foul.

Outside of the gate receipts, which is always the big part, the main ides in this late encounter was to prove that some one had come along who deserved to take over the crown that Tunney had tossed aside. About all this proved was that Schmeling could take it and that Sharkey still couldn't control his fast one. Sharkey was a pitcher with all the stuff, speed, curves and the big hop, who wild-pitched himself out of the championship just as Jack Chesbro did over 20 years ago.

THE PROVEN PART.

Up to the scrambled finish in the fourth round Sharkey had proved that he was a corking boxer with a strong two-handed attack. He also had proved that he could keep his head and fight his fight. The low was not the result of any mental upset or wild brain flurry. was winning at the time and winning along the lines he had mapped out. He was being almost too careful." But the type of punch he started for the body is always dangerous when thrown at a fellow who has the habit of coming in fast. It was running too much risk where no such risk was needed. It is easy enough to time against a target that is still or that is backing away. It is extremely difficult to time against a fighter coming from a half crouch into a quick charge.

Schmeling proved something also. Every one knew he had a cool head. The big doubt concerned his ability to take it. He took plenty in the third round. He took full right band wallops to the chin, at least one solid uppercuit and a left hook to the to the chin, at least one solid uppercuit and a left hook to the body delivered with all the force that Sharkey had in his big, brawny system. In this round Sharkey had measured Schmeling perfectly, had timed at least four of his punches, and had nailed the target. But the target, while jarred and jolted, showed no signs of dropping or reeling or fading out of the battle. Schmeling proved beyond any question in this round that he was not only game but durable, that he could take his full share and still keep on coming in.

TWO DETAILS.

It had been said before the fight that if the German ever landed one or more solid rights that Sharkey would blow up. Schmeling landed several solid rights and Sharkey remained as cool and as collected as he was at the start. If these punches hurt him he never showed it by as much as the blinking of an eye. He took them and went smoothly along the road he had mapped out in advance, without being flustered in the

If Sharkey had fouled Schmeling after absorbing one of these right-hand wallops to the jaw it would have been easier to understand. But the foul came in a moment of calm, just before the bell rang. If it had landed cleanly and had knocked Schmeling down the bell would have saved him. It was the unluckiest blo for one man that the ring has ever known.

It is a queer thing that a boxer with as good control or aim as Sharkey had shown up to that moment should step in with a wild pitch and blow the game. He had either put more stuff into that punch than he could control or else Schmeling had come in much faster than Sharkey had figured.

WHO WOULD HAVE WON?

There will be a million arguments from now on as to which man would have won. Schmeling had been considerably shaken up in the third round but he had come back in the fourth in good shape. He had shown that he was in fine condition and that he had durability as well as stamina, courage as well as coolness.

It is quite possible that he would have kept along in his tireless fashion and finally turned the Boston fighter into a discouraged mood. But as far as the fight went Sharkey was the master of the show. He had proved to be the better boxer and the harder puncher. He had jarred the German more with both left and right than Schmeling had jarred him with his last punch,

Sharkey looked to be on his way to a victory. There are many who believed that another such onslaught as the third round brought on would have paved the way for an early knockout around the seventh or eighth But this is another one of those arguments that will never be solved unless they meet again. It is almost certain that Schmeling could never have stopped Sharkey. And failing to stop him he would have had a hard time outpointing a man who was outboxing and outpunching him, who was bigger, faster and stronger.

It takes fast, accurate work to land a right hand upon a high-class boxer who is looking for and has worked against it in weeks of training.

Schmeling deserves great credit for the courageous mann in which he continued to crowd an opponent who apparently had every angle of attack to use, who was well equipped to inflict punishment. Sharkey showed that he not only had a useful and dangerous left but that he also had a useful and dangerous right, that he could hook, jab and uppercut.

Bare Legs, Ring Stir Net World

WIMBLEDON, England, June 13.—(P)—Joan Fry, tennis star, who surprised Wimbleton with announcement of her engagement to Lieutenant Thomas Lakemán, of the British army tank corps, was not the only star to stir the tennis world today.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody had a startling thrill of her own for Wimbledon, appearing on the center court bare-legged and thus settling so far as she is concerned the controversy which has long raged over stockings here.

The Hapeville team of the City league will play a game at Griffin, Saturday afternoon. They were scheduled to play with Southern Bell in Atlanta, but the dropping of that team from the league gave them a bye.

ENGLAND TAKES

Helen Wills Moody Wins But Mates Fall; Score Stands 2-1.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 13. (UN)—The United States' hopes of retaining the Wightman cup, won from England in 1929, received a setback today when British women stars took a two-match-to-one lead for the opening day's play.

The final four matches will be played Saturday, with England needing only an even break to win the series and even the record for all-time Wightman cup competition at four series each.

four series each.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody scored
America's only victory today, defeating Miss Joan Fry in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1. Mrs. Holcroft Watson even-

Welcomed to La Lomita royally, with a late luncheon served especially for his convenience, Dan found the emainder of the winter day strange unreal. He felt dazed and weak, a if his head had had a blow.

The sudden alienation from Cassy mid the children was bewildering. His ody was at La Lomita, but his mind and heart were down in the valley.

"It's not nonsense at all. Millicent—yes, and other people, have seen it!
Or no, I won't say they've seen it, but they've thought of it as a possibility, Dan. And they know that you don't-know-one-blessed-thing-about women!"

"They could know that, all right."

"So, darling, if you love me, and I know you do, and if you think I've been generous about all this, I'm going to ask you not to go near Cassy for a while."

"But I did promise you that."

"We'll have the flower show, darling and all the Christmas fuss—I mean you've got lots to do. And about mid-January I do so want to take a little trip somewhere, perhaps not Honolulu—"

He knew that if they lived they

"You're been a strain. I wish we could go to Honolulu darling!"

"Oh, no, not yet, Dulce. I'll have to elver that. I'm going to get to work!"

The fire reackled, the lamps shome softly in the perfumed air, Dulce curied luxuriously in her big chair.

"Seems so good to have you back! But I have been generous, haven't!"

"You've been wonderful!" "Well, maybe I got on her nerves, too."

"You're tired, aren't you, darling?"
Dulce was saying.

"Little bit, maybe." He got up, stretching, yawning.

"Come here," she said. Dan went to her, and knelt down by her chair, and she drew his big arm about her. "There's just one thing I want you to promise me, Beautiful," Dulce conxed, her eyelashes lowered, her hand busy with the lapel of his coat. It had to come. Dan eyed her patiently.

"I want you to promise me to drop all connection here, for a while, anyway," Dulce said. "I'll tell you why, I think it's wiser, in the first place, because of the looks of things. I'm perfectly willing to have the children up here any time you say, but I do think it's wiser not to have you go there."

"I agree with you," Dan said

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(F)—
The controversy over the federal farm board's activities in the grain market was placed squarely before the senate today by the nomination of Alexander H. Legge to serve a second term as chairman of the board.

Intensive criticism of the board.

Intensive criticism of the board's policies has been expressed in business circles, particularly by the United States Chamber of Commerce. This was based upon the contention that the board's use of its $500,000,000 revolving fund in buying grain hampered competition and was detrimental to private interests.

Announcing Legge's reappointment late yesterday, the White House also made public the nomination of C. C. Teague, of California, to serve a second term on the board. At the same time the homination of W. Cameron Forbes, of Boston, as ambassador to Japan was announced.

Legge and Teague were originally appointed to serve one year terms, these ending at midnight tomorrow. The confirmation of Legge was opposed a year ago by farm organizations and senators from the northwest.

A close watch was kept today for an indication of renewed opposition from this source, as well as for signs of a contest based upon the criticism of grain dealers and other businessmen.

With the Forbes appointment the last of the major diplomatic vacancies was filled. He succeeds William Castle, who served at Tokyo temporarily during the London naval conference and is soon to return to his post of assistant secretary of state.

Forbes has been in and out of public life for more than 25 years. In 1904 he served with the Philippine commission and from 1909 to 1913 was governor general of the islands. In 1921 he vas a member of the Woods-Forbes commission appointed by President Harding to investigate conditions in the Philippines.

Associated Press Market Editor.
CHICAGO, June 13.—(P)—Unsettled by drought-breaking in Canada and by auspicious harvest conditions in this country, all grain values smashed downward today. Wheat, rye and oats outdid the season's low-price records, wheat coming within 1-2 cent of touching a dollar-per-bushel level. Contributing to the weakness of grain was selling ascribed to stock market houses and resulting apparently from recent declines in prices for securities and for commodities as well.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous at 1-4 to 5-8c rally from the day's bottom quotations, but 17-8 to 21-2c under yesterday's finish. Corn closed 3-8 to 1c down, oats 3-4 to 1c off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 7c.

Except for one strong rally after downturns at the start, wheat show-day ageneral downward trend throu-hout practically the entire day. The rally referred to was based to a great extent on reports of severe crop damage in Canada, reports which temporarily more than offset news of continued beneficial rains. In some wheat districts of Canada 20 to 25 per cent total losses were specified, notably west of Moosejaw. Helping also as a transient bullish factor were estimates that yesterday's export business in wheat from North America were larger than generally supposed, totaling between 1,500,000 and 2,500,000 bushels. Stop loss selling, however, set in during the last half of the day, and with holders of wheat showing more and more anxiety to let go, the buying support for the market dwindled so that in the final hour about the sole demand was from previous speculative sellers. A new development of wheat future delivery contracts gave evidence of increasing fear of undue pressure from hedging sales in connection with the harvest movement southwest. The weather southwest was regarded as favorable for maturing of the crop, as well as for cutting of the crop as well as for cutting of the crop as well as for cutting of the crop as well as for utting of the crop as well as for cutting of the crop as w the corn market.

Notwithstanding that hog values advanced, provisions weakened owing to sympathy with grain.

NEW YORK, June 13.—(P)—Improvement in an extensive list of railroad and utility issues, the firmness of the foreign group and strength of United States governments were the encouraging notes in a quiet and irregular bond market today.

Despite the erratic course of the listed market which moved within narrow limits, the general tone was better by a shade as time money rates are ased slightly and call money renewed at 2 1-2 per cent for the first time since March 20.

Railroad and amusement convertibles rallied with stocks but others of the group sold off. The German annuties issue was again the feature of the foreign group which was firm. The German 5 1-2s, selling on a when issued basis, failed to retain the high level established yesterday, selling off 1-8 at the close but the turn-over was about $750,000. Other portions of the loan were offered in England, France, Germany and Sweden today with over-

Wall Street Briefs.

NEW YORK, June 13.—(P)—Dun's review tomorrow will say:

The main point of interest, in the absence of decisive new commercial trends, has been the recurrence of conspicuous unsettlement in speculative channels. Confusion and uncertainty over the general situation have led to hesitation in many instances, but a period of inertia in the stock market has been succeeded by comparative activity and sharply fluctuating prices. The basis for that movement was not to be found in any important change in the status of trade, although the continued lack of a broad and impressive revival has unfavorably affected sentiment in quarters where the time element in economic readjustment has not been fully allowed for. With summer near at hand, a further deferment of expansion in most lines is indicated, and receding manufacturing operations, where they appear now, are in keeping with the usual seasonal tendency. Naturally, restrictive influences are intensified in the present era of transition, with the persistent decline of commodity prices still being one of the principal restraining forces. Except in the relatively few cases where needs are urgent, the advantage remains distinctly with the buyer, and the steady easing in wholesale quotations/is beginning to be reflected more plainly in retail circles.

Weekly bank clearings $10,355,516,000, a decrease of 3.0 per cent from a year ago.

Cotton Letters.

FENNER & BEANE. NEW YORK, June 13.—Cotton was on the downward grade again Friday due to renewed liquidation in July in advance of first motice day, poor week-end figures, rising temperatures, belief that the weather is generally favorable and expectations of bearish consumption figures tomorrow.

Much of the liquidation in July is due to recent inactivity of the farm board and rumers that it was slipping out of some of its July holdings.

Friday, however, brokers representing the farm board entered the market at New Orleans and hought July moderately, thus checking the liquidation in that portion to some extent.

NEW ORLEANS, June 13.—Generally more favorable crop weather inland, the recent weakness in the New York stock market, a bearish monthly cotion textile report, Garside's small estimate as to May consumption of lint in the United States, July liquidation, an unfavorable British Board of Trade report for May, and bearish splaners takings of American for week were influences that weighed on the cotton market during the past week, values compared with one week ago showing a further sharp decline for new crop deliveries and an important decline in the July position, the latter losing much of its recent large premium.

moderate rallies from an early decline in cotton today and prices eased again later, with new crop months making new lows for the season under a renewal of liquidation and selling promoted by the favorable idea of crop progress, weakness in wheat, and the failure of a more active demand to develop on the bulges.

July contracts sold off to 14.31, or 37 points net lower and within 10 points of the low level reached yesterday, while the new October contract declined to 13.38, or 28 points net lower. July closed at 14.40 and the new October at 13.41, with the general market closing barely steady it net declines of 23 to 28 points.

The opening was steady at a deline of 5 to 13 points under selling thich appeared to be inspired by a lirly favorable view of the weather ports and continued talk of a poor mand for cotton goods. The buysy which steadied the market at the ening was soon supplied, with the rine extending several points, but re was a renewal of covering, and 13.82 for the old Octaber.

demand for cotton goods. The buying which steadied the market at the opening was soon supplied, with the decline extending several points, but there was a renewal of covering, around 13.82 for the old October and 13.70 for the new December.

This demand became a little more active on the outlook for showers in the south with probable rain along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts and new crop months just about recovered their losses, with the old October selling up to 13.96, or a point above Thursday's closing quotations.

The demand soon tapered off and the market weakened again, reaching the lowest levels of the day in the late trading under a renewal of liquidation and selling which was supposed to include some pressure from the west inspired by the weakness in wheat. The old October sold off to 13.69 and closed at that figure, while new December after declining to 13.56 closed at 13.50. The closing quotation for July was 99 points over the the new October, compared with 102 points at the close of yesterday. The selling of July was again attributed chiefly to liquidation of trailing long accounts.

AT NEW ORLEANS. June 13.—(P)—Further liquidation caused the cotton market to make new low levels today for the present downward movement with spurts of very active trading. In the absence of cables, Liverpool being closed for the Whitsuntide holidays, the market opened fairly steady but July soon developed weakness due to further liquidation, declining 24 points, while October lost 13 points.

The market had a good rally on the forecast for unsettled weather over the week-end, July recovering 19 points and new crop months making new highs 15 to 16 points above the early lows. The market had a sinking spell after mid-session and all months made new lows 29 to 21 points below the earlier highs. Weakness in wheat was one of the causes assigned for the late dip.

The close was a few points up from the lows, the general market clusing steady at net declines for the day of 24 to 27 points.

First trades here showed losses of 1 to 6 points. July soon developed weakness, dropping to 14.00, down 24 points. The later months weakened in sympathy, October easing to 13:58 and December to 13:71, down 13 to 14 points. The market rallied sharply on the forecast for unsettled weather, July recovering 19 points to 14:25, while October made a new high at 13:73, up 15 points from the low. There was a renewal of liquidation after mid-session and all months made new lows, July breaking through the 14-cent line to 13:90 and October dropping to 13:44, down 29 to 31 points from the highs. The close was a little up from the lowest, July closing at 14:05, October 13:45 and December 13:61, or 24 to 27 points net down for the day.

Harvest Army Starts Invasion of Midwest

KANSAS CITY, June 13.—(P)— The vanguard of the 1930 harvest army today was sweeping into the wheat fields of four states reaping the first quotas of the 212,723,000 bushels estimated June 1 by the de-partment of agriculture as the sec-tion's contribution to the world's food supply.

tion's contribution to the world's food supply.

The United States employment service here has estimated 190,000 workers will be needed to finish reaping of the estimated crop of 137,300,000 bushels in Kansas, where the harvest is expected to become general June 20. Of this number all except 27,500 will be recruited within the state, George Tucker, farm labor director, has estimated.

Reaping of Texas' estimated yield of 24,000,000 bushels began with ample help at hand, the employment service reported, as did harvest of Oklahoma's and Missouri's crops estimated respectively at 31,923,000 and 19,500,000 bushels.

The army of harvesters working northward from Texas through Oklahoma is expected by the employment service to supply the needs of Kansas, then turn its attention to Nebraska, Colorado, North and South Dakota and other parts of the wheat belt.

Domestic, Export Copper Prices Cut

NEW YORK, June 13.—(P)—Custom smelters sought a buying level for domestic copper today by reducing the price to 12 and 12 1-4 cents delivered. The large producers held their price at 12 3-4 and 13 cents delivered. Two cuts of a quarter of a cent a pound each by customs smelters brought the domestic price of the metal yesterday to 12 1-2 cents and resulted in Copper Exporters, Inc., reducing the export price today to 13 cents from 13.30 cents, c. i. f. Georgia Peach Crop Condition Only Fair

Georgia's peach crop is in better condition now than it was a year ago, a crop report issued Friday by the Atlanta bureau of agricultural economics, United States department of agriculture, said.

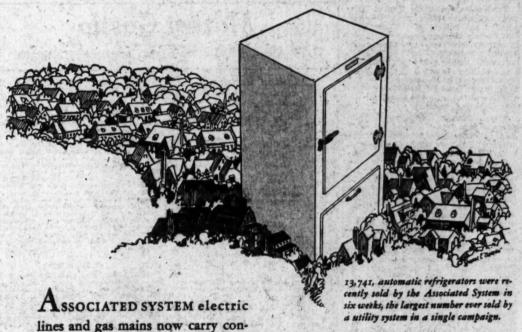

The peach condition averaged 54 per cent compared with 40 per cent in June, 1929. Based on that condition, the report said, the total crop should approximate 5,250,000 bushels. Georgia's commercial crop was placed at 7,600 cars, compared to 5,208 cars last year and 15,926 in 1928. Rains last month were so heavy in the state generally that they interfered with cultivation. Tobacco was beginning to "button out" prematurely, watermelon vines were shedding some of the young melons and feed crops were making poor growth.

The condition of wheat on June 1 was 73 per cent compared with 71 per cent at the same time last year. Forecast production amounted to 564,000 bushels against 850,000 last year. Rye conditions were reported at 77 per cent against 82 per cent last year.

venient automatic refrigeration to 13,741 additional homes. Employees sold this number of refrigerators, 230 carloads, to customers during a recent six weeks' campaign - more than twice as many as were sold by the Associated System all last year -more than were sold in the entire United States in 1922.

These 13,741 customers now have greater bealth protection, greater home comfort, greater convenience. Convenience is a watch word in the modern home. Electricity and gas supply it.

Year by year, the use of electricity and gas consuming appliances increases. During 1929 customers purchased appliances with a value of $6,016,535 from the Associated System.

1930 purchases were estimated at $8,221,000. $5,000,000 worth have already been purchased and the peak season is yet to come. This rapid increase in the se of appliances assures a future of greater convenience for customers and continued growth for the Associated Gas and Electric System, serving over 1,368,000 customers.

For the sake of health, comfort, and convenience neither your bome nor your food stores can afford to be without some means of modern refrigeration.

Turnover in Cities Service New Rights Swells Sales

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER,

NEW YORK, June 13.— (P)—
Shares on the curb market worked irregularly higher in dull trading today, after a further outburst of selling in the morning. When the selling deied up around midday, shorts hastened to cover, and the more active issues made substantial headway, recovering earlier losses, and closing a point or two higher.

Total sales were announced as 2.184,900 shares, but of this total, more than 1,200,000 was accounted for by the turnover in rights to purchase Cities Service convertible debentures. These rights, which have sold as high as $1.50, got down to 12 1-2 cents, and closed at 25 cents. They expire on Monday, and as the stock has been depressed close to the levels at which the debentures are convertible, the rights have been heavily sold. The stock sold off fractionally to 29, and closed at 29 3-8.

sold technical condition.

Steel common, Consolidated Gas, Can and some other leaders opened a point or more high on the overnight brokers' loan statement showing a weekly decrease of $103,000,000. The higher opening for these shares was due to short covering. Early in the first hour the market turned irregular, International Telephone dropping a point. Auburn Motor 5, Allied Chemical 8 1-2 and United States Freight 12 1-4 from yesterday's high of 55 without hesitating. Before the end of the second hour there was a recovery. To noon, however, trading was only 906,000 shares, against 1,972,000 for the same period yesterday. United States Freight sold at 761-4 yesterday, 103 some weeks ago and 134 1-2 last year. The company handles less than carload lots of freight. The stock has been sold because holders believe that with freight car loadings of the railroads down to the existing low level the company's earnings must be unforced.

roads down to the existing low level the company's earnings must be unfavorable.

Directors of the National Enameling & Stamping Company met and pussed the quarterly 50-cent dividend.

Copper Cut Again.

Co er, which declined yesterday from 13 to 12 on the unexpected increase in metal in the hands of refiners, declined further today. Some producers were selling at 12 1-2 cents and some at 12. These prices were for domestic buyers. Export copper prices moved with the domestic prices. In slashing copper prices first from 18 cents to 14 and then to 12 1-2 with an immediate advance to 13, producers were able to make a large reduction in their inventories. Fearing a further advance from 13, consumers made heavy purchases. There was also heavy speculative buying when copper dropped to 12 1-2 cents and sone the unfavorable attracting made large purchases. There was also heavy speculative buying when copper dropped to 12 1-2 cents and sone at 12 1-2 cents in their inventories. Fearing a further advance from 13, consumers made heavy purchases. There was also heavy speculative buying when copper dropped to 12 1-2 cents and sone at 12 1-2 cents in the week and may go lower because of the unfavorable attracting made large purchases last month, consumers are now out of the market. Moreover, some of the speculative copper bought last month is coming back on the market, holders fearing lower prices in view of yesterday's unexpected increase during May in the stocks of copper in the hands of refiners. With heavy sales of metal in May, producers jumped their output, expecting the buying to continue.

The weekly drop of $103,000,000 in brokers' loans is convincing evidence.

Capone Hearing Is Warming Up

NEW YORK, June 13.—(P)—With words of high praise on his lips for the London naval treaty, General Charles G. Dawes, United States ambassador to England, returned tonight for a month's stay in this country.

"The treaty," he said, "represents the greatest step yet taken in naval reduction and limitation and at the reduction and limitation and at the same time secures parity for the United States which could only be attained by a 15 years' naval race at a cost of two billions of dollars, during all of which time we would have naval inferiority and curtailment of other useful government activities. It protects us both in the Atlantic and Pacific."

Steady increase in the size of audiences at the Erlanger theater this week indicate that, if "All Quiet on the Western Front," could be kept there as long as it has been shown in some other cities. Atlanta would be added to the list of places that have broken all attendance records for the famous story of German war life by Erich Maria Remarque.

Comment among people leaving the Erlanger after performances indicates that the touching love scenes between the young German schoolboy-soldier and the little French girl, living in the occupied territory, makes perhaps the deepest impression of all on viewers. Certainly few more effective love sequences have ever been seen or heard on the screen.

BOSTON, June 13.—(4)—From the lips of one of the only two survivors of the more than 40 persons who were either plunged or jumped into the sea last Tuesday night when the steamship Fairfax cleaved her prow into the gasoline-laden tanker Pinthis, Icderal investigators of the disaster today heard fresh details of the tragedy.

The man was J. V. Eubank, of Lewisetta, Va., quartermaster of the Fairfax, whose hand had guided the wheel of the Norfolk-bound passenger liner until four minutes before the crash which to date has claimed the lives of 47.

Questioning by Dickerson N. Hoover, inspector general of the United States steambagt service, who was revived found himself with Joe Coker, Fairfax negro hand. Both men tore their shirts from their backs to stuff into leaky places and in Questioning by Dickerson N. Hoover, inspector general of the United States steamboat service, who was sitting with Captain Charles Lyons and John Stewart, the local inspectors, elicited from Eubank an admission that although he was not sure he "thought" the Pinthis probably had the right of way. movements and proven such a nuisance that Chuik had long since torn it from him and thrown it away. But somehow clothes had pleased Chulk's fancy.

Now he saw the warrior arrayed in less cumbers Now he saw the warrior arrayed in less cumbersome apparal—a loin cloth, a few copper ornaments and a feather headdress. These were more in line with Chulk's desires than a flowing robe which was constantly getting between one's legs and catching upon every limb and bush along the leafy trail. Mugambi's pouch, ornamented with fringe and feathers, hung at his hip. This also took Chulk's fancy, and so the ape hung about Mugambi's boma, waiting to steal by stealth or might the black's apparel.

Mugambi wisely decided to remain where he was until he had recuperated his strength and health. And so it was that he constructed a substantial thorn boma, and rigged a thatched shelter within it where he might sleep by night in security, and from which he sallied forth by day to hunt the flesh which alone could return to his giant thews their normal prowess. One day, as he hunted, a pair of savage eyes discovered him from the concealment of the branches of a great tree beneath which the black warrior passed.

Wicked eyes they were, set in a fierce and hairy face. They watched Mugambi make his kill, and they followed him as he returned to his hut, their owner moving quietly through the trees upon the trail of the negro. The creature was Chulk, and he looked down upon the man more in curiosity than in hate. The Arab burnoose which Tarzan had pisced upon the ape had so obstructed his movements and proven such a nuisance that Chulk had long since torn it from him and thrown it away.

Candler field's first night passenger hopping was inaugurated Friday night, apparently with great success, by the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service. Four trips were made to the outskirts of the city by Hubert Duckworth, chief pilot for the local base, at the controls of the company's J-6 Travel Air monoplane, the guests including a number of well-known Atlantans. Among these were Mrs. Mary Duckworth, mother of Hubert and Joe Duckworth, manager of the local base; Dr. and Mrs. Floyd McRae, Mr. and Mrs. Smythe Gambrell, Hugh Richardson, Jr., and J. P. Allen, Jr. Night flights, which have proven popular at Evansville, Chicago and many other airports throughout the country will be made by Curtissy Wright each Friday night, it was announced.

William S. Broek and Edward F. Schlee, of Detroit, famed round-the-world fliers, who plan to fly from Jacksonville, Fla., to San Diego, Cal., and return, in an assault on eastwest and west-east transcontinental records, delayed their take-off at Candler field Friday to make some minor adjustments to their ship, a streamlined Lockheed Wasp Vega. Weather permitting, they are scheduled to continue their journey to the south this morning. Brock, Schlee and Roy Newton, radio operator, landed here Thursday night after a flight from Columbus, Ohio, and had planned to leave Jacksonville on the long flight early Sunday morning. Their departure for the Pacific probably will not take place now until Monday morning. Chief Pilot E. W. Hightower, of the Blevins Aircraft Corporation, Friday morning carried an unnamed passenger to Cedartown, where an hour's stop was made for the latter to look after some business matters. The flight was made in the company's Waco "Model F." In the meantime, Miss Martha Candler, newest mem-ber of Atlanta's plane-owning contin-gent, braved the date and the over-cast skies to get some "time" in her Brock, who has been flying for any years and in many capacities, a close friend of Bill Breitenstein, cast skies to get some "time" in her new Lycoming-powered Stinson Jun-ior. Miss Candler, who was given the cabin monoplane on her gradua-tion at Ward Belmont, is taking in-struction under Beeler Blevins and many years and in many capacities, is a close friend of Bill Breitenstein, publicity manager for Lakewood park, who recalls his first meeting with the famous pilot in 1920, when the latter was in Mobile with Jersey Ringel's Flying circus. Ringel, after making a national reputation as a wing-walker and stunt man, turned pilot a couple of years ago and was killed, together with his two passengers, in a crash at Smyrna near here, only a few months since. Ringel, first nerial entertainer to stand on the top wing of a looping plane, did the stunt on a Jenny piloted by Brock. Leaving Ringel's outfit, Brock joined up with Lillian Boyer and was a pilot in her circus until 1926. In the winter of 1926-1927 he flew the mail from Chicago to St. Paul, and in 1927 joined Edward F, Schlee for the flight from Detroit to Tokyo, a feat which won instant fame for the then comparatively obscure fliers. is making fine progress, the veteran Ensign Byron B. Newell, Atlanta boy and recent graduate at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, who is entering the aviation branch of the service, today will leave for Hampton Roads, Va., where he will be given a 10-hour solo course, preparatory to entering the navy's air school at the Pensacola base. Young Newell, who is a graduate of Tech High school and Georgia Tech, has been here for the last week on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Carl Newell, of 136 Fifth street, N. W.

Only two visiting ships were regis-tered at the airport Friday. J. H. Wakefield, flying a Warner-powered Fleet from New York to San Diego, G. T. Burdett, third student to solo since the reorganization of the Blevins Aircraft Corporation and the second in the last four days. Friday made his first trip by himself in the company's training plane, a Kinner-powered Waco "Model F." His initial unescorted sortie into the ether was entirely without incident, except that he made a soft landing on three points. Burdett, 24-year-old employe of the Georgia Power Company, plans to go into the thing commercially, and is looking for a transport pilot's Coast Airways, Inc.

Unidentified Autoist Killed by Policeman

Officer Herman Clay early Friday morning shot and killed a negro whose body remains unidentified at the Cummings undertaking establishment, where it was taken after the shooting. The officer reported that the negro was driving recklessly when he started in pursuit and when he pulled alongside the negro jumped out and struck him over the head with an auto tool. Clay said he fired three times.

WASHINGTON. June 13.—(A)—
The only possibility of further action against Bishop James Cannon, Jr. for his defiance of the senate lobby committee seemed tonight to hinge on a decision by Vice President Curtis whether he is required by law to report to the district attorney the churchman's refusal to answer questions.

Although Columbus police reported late Friday that they had not been requested to arrest two men and a woman to $1,200 from the safe of J. Regensiein & Company Wednesday night, Detectives W. W. Ford and W. T. McGree traced the trio to that city Friday.

The detectives located a taxi driver who took two men and a woman to

A report of the examination of the bishop will be presented to the senate next week by the lobby committee and Senator Blaine, republican, Wisconsin, contends the vice president then will have to submit the matter to the district attorney for possible contempt proceedings.

A totally different view however.

Accused of Arson

Will Little, 61-year-old negro, who lives in the rear of 207 East Ellis street, was arrested late Friday night by Detectives A. C. Sinyard and R. L. Burden and charged with arson. The negro is said to have attempted to burn the home of his daughter in the rear of Crew street alley Thursday night by placing a bundle of gasoline-woaked papers under the house and striking a match. The daughter and others are said to have discovered the fire before it could gain headway.

Negro Fisherman Put Under Arrest

Caught fishing on the railroad right-of-way which passed through the Fairmont road estate of Walter Candler and refusing to get off when ordered to do by the owner, six negroes were arrested for trespassing by DeKalb county officers Thursday night. Four of them, Tom Thomas. Asberry Smith, Joe Anderson and Walter Greggs, made bonds of $100 each while the other two. Henry Brown and Jasper Poline, were held in jail pending a hearing at 2 o'clock this afternoon before a justice of the peace.
